NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or both and other crueful diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE KENTUCKY

EQUAL RIGHTS ASSOCIATION.

The Poor English Governor—American and English Women—Ida May Spencer. The New Woman—Women of Sweden. Seasonable Hints and Timely Gospel.

One of the most noted women in America is Miss Laura Clay, president of the Kentucky Equal Rights association. She is the daughter of the venerable General Cassius Marcellus Clay, who gained an international reputation as an abolitionist before the war and as United States minister to Russia during the rebellion. Miss Clay's mother was a daughter of the late Dr. Eliza Warfield of this city, one of the foremost men of his time. Miss Clay inherits the strong mentality of both the Clay and Warfield families, and as a clear thinker and convincing reasoner she stands without a peer. She has so far refrained from allowing a picture of herself to be printed, and the accompanying likeness is the first one that has ever appeared in a newspaper. As will be seen, she bears a striking resemblance to her distinguished father.

Although one of the busiest women in the country, Miss Clay submitted to an interview, in which she treats in her clear, logical style of the needs of the women of today and of the benefits which she thinks will follow the enfranchisement of women.

"What caused you to become an advocate of equal rights for women?" the reporter asked.

"While I was still in my teens," she replied, "even my limited observation of life taught me that woman must have greater financial independence, and hence greater industrial opportunities, to obtain the freedom necessary for mental and moral strength. Dependent beings evidently must be, more or less, mere reflections of those upon whom they depend. Therefore, if women are to low themselves to owe men obligations greater than men's reciprocal obligations to them, they must assume a weak mental and moral attitude, bringing its attendant evils upon the whole of society, for however highly men's judgment and conscience may be developed they cannot assume women's responsibilities, so whatever dywads women's development injures society. After I saw that women ought to have equal rights with men in educational and industrial advantages I did not at once perceive clearly that they should enjoy the same political rights. I had the idea, which is still so prevalent among my sex, that politics was not the 'sphere' for women, and that going to the polls was derogatory to womanly delicacy, which was worthy to be protected even by the sacrifice of what was indisputably an abstract right. But further observation and reflection soon convinced me that under the pressure of false social theories and the weight of unequal laws, unequal because made only by men, essential womanly delicacy and worth were continually sacrificed, and that nothing could avail to protect womanhood from such dangers except for conscientious women firmly to claim equal rights everywhere, including the right of helping to make the laws, and by their own womanly exercise of the franchise to demonstrate that politics belongs to women's sphere as well as to man's."

"How long have you been engaged in this work?"
"Though very early I avowed my belief in equal rights, circumstances did not permit me to engage in any systematic work for these principles till 1888, when I helped to organize an equal rights association in Lexington. Later in the same year the Kentucky Equal Rights association was formed. I was elected its president and have been re-elected each year since. The object of the association is to advance the industrial, educational and legal rights of women and secure the franchise to them by appropriate state and national legislation."—Lexington Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Poor English Governor.
The pathos of advertisements is not confined to what are popularly known as the agony columns of the daily papers. To the thoughtful mind there is convincing evidence of a constant stream of suffering and of that hope deferred which maketh the heart sick to be found in the innumerable applications for employment by all sorts and conditions of advertisers. A notable and typical example of the terrible reality of the struggle for life is to be discerned in a recent notification in a daily paper by the wife of a well known man of letters. The lady in question, after stating that she had selected a nursery governess, went on to "inform the 700 other candidates that the photographs with which stamps were sent will be presently returned."

Seven hundred other candidates! And how many applications would the lady have received if she had advertised for a thoroughly competent high class cook? The experience of family folk who have known what it is to want a cook and a governess will supply the answer to that question with sufficient accuracy. But what a serious indictment against our social system does this advertisement prefer! To be a governess—even to be a nursery governess—is young to have some pretensions—more or less plausible—to education and to gentility.

Probably there is not one among all those 700 who would not be indignant at the suggestion that she would have done better to have been content with the kitchen rather than to have aspired to the superior social emblems which entitles her to be addressed as "miss."

And just because she has had that aspiration, and because she has acquired that smattering of education which has unfitted her for domestic service, she is condemned to discover that nobody wants her. Our philanthropists might do worse than apply themselves to the solution of the problem what to do with all young women, of whom those 700 are but an infinitesimally small fraction.—London Graphic.

American and English Women.
Mr. Hall Caine says of his stay in the United States: "Many of my impressions of America, by the way, are tinged down like a child's house of cards when I found myself actually in the country and among the people. A delightful nation to study is America—fresh and frank and full of originality. Of course, we all know and have always known, for the last century, at least, that Americans are clever, but we can't realize until we go among them and see them in their homes how kindly, how young of heart, they are as individuals."

Of American women in general he deems "it is only natural they should have become what they are—superior, intellectually, or, at any rate, superficially so, to the men. That is, of course, as a class. There are always so many exceptions to every rule that the thing has come about as a consequence of man's putting woman—American man, American woman—on a pedestal, and worshipping her. He has staid below the pedestal and worked for her, not having time, if he was the ordinary man of business, to cultivate his mind and manner while he so worked. But she has had plenty of time, and she has made the best use of it. In our own country I consider that the reverse is the truth. The average Englishman is superior to the average English woman in intelligence and education. That is because he is likely to think of himself, and of his sons, before he thinks of his wife and daughters. And English women have conscientiously upheld him in his attitude toward them, until comparatively lately, at any rate. In America, on the contrary, I fancy that women have known their own value, and set it rather high, for a number of years—a couple of generations, at least."

In personal appearance Mr. Caine finds our women "prettier, more attractive, more bewitching, than English women, but not so regularly beautiful. The straight, almost Greek nose and the infinitely lovely and naughty upper lip of the most perfect type of English girl I have not seen equaled in America, I must say."—Providence Journal.

Ida May Spencer.
There lives in Edgerton, Wis., a young woman, Ida May Spencer, who is an expert jeweler. She is in partnership with her father, the sign reading, "John Spencer & Daughter, Jewelers and Opticians."

Having determined to adopt the jewelry business as a profession, she entered in the fall of 1887 the Horological school at La Porte, Ind. While there, she competed with some of the veterans in the business for a prize, a gold medal, to be given to the one turning the best balance staff in the shortest time. She won the medal. Two of the judges were from New York and one from Chicago. Her teacher told her that, in all probability, if they had known she was a woman they would not have awarded her the prize. He also remarked that, though fairly entitled to it, he feared it would not be a good advertisement for the school. After learning the trade, her coworkers feared she would not be able to get a situation on account of her sex. However, the teachers, knowing she was fully competent, gave her recognition. During the summer of 1893 she studied to become an optician, attending lectures in Boston. This branch she has found very profitable. At the time Miss Spencer took up the work there were probably not more than a half dozen women engaged in the occupation.—Woman's World.

The New Woman.
And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down.—II Kings xxi, 13.

With this text the Rev. Phoebe Hanaford, in her lecture at the house of Mrs. Maria McCullough, 317 West Eighty-second street, proved that man's sphere is also in the kitchen.

"If those men who are forever flaunting in our faces the texts of St. Paul in which he forbids women to speak in the churches would read this text, they would find that the sphere of the kitchen work belongs," said Mrs. Hanaford.

"Every one is not a wife; hence the absurdity of the idea that woman's whole duties are household ones."

"The very mental traits specially characteristic of women—i. e., intuition—is much better fitted to these days of rapid locomotion than man's slower method—reasoning."

"The day of reproach for our sex is well nigh over, and among the ones of whom we are the proudest are those who were formerly called the superfluous women. This is not meant to decry marriage. The new woman makes the best wife, but she will demand of her husband the same fidelity and purity that she practices herself."—New York Herald.

Women of Sweden.
Miss Sophia Leyonhufvud (later Baroness Adlersparre) and Mrs. Rosalie Olivecrona started anonymously in 1868 a review dedicated to the Swedish woman, with the object to raise her standard morally, intellectually and socially. This review was the first organ for the woman movement in Sweden, and to it are to a great extent due not only many reforms, legal, educational and social, which during the last 30 years have taken place in the condition of women, but also a great change in public opinion concerning her right and standing.

Owing to the great educational advantages which are now within reach of woman, they have got freer access to the labor market and are in many respects accepted as coworkers with men. It is, however, not only with her literary work that Baroness Adlersparre is deserving of the gratitude of her countrywomen, but also on account of the many institutions which she has founded in their favor. One of these is the Friends of Female Domestic Industry, which has been instrumental in raising the standard of female workmanship to an artistic achievement. The most prominent of these institutions is nevertheless the Fredrika Bremer society, with numerous committees, which all have for object the benefit of women.

Helen Gould's Charities.
Miss Helen Gould's inheritance from her father has certainly been mental as well as financial. The "business ability" which he possessed is shown by his daughter in her charities, which are conducted with the same fidelity and system with which her brother George looks after his vast interests or her brother Edwin manufactures matches.

Woody Crest, the day nurseries and the Sunday school treats which hundreds of little children associate with her name have passed into history, and still flourish like any well established institution made to last. Miss Gould's latest act of businesslike generosity is the sending of a check for $3,000 to Vassar college. It will be used to found a scholarship in memory of Miss Gould's mother.—Home Journal.

Why Not?
"The women of Missouri," says the Philadelphia Telegraph, "are circulating a petition to the governor of the state asking him to appoint only married men as resident physicians in the insane asylums of the state."

But why not appoint women physicians to look after the women who are confined in the insane asylums of the state? This is the policy which has been adopted in South Carolina, and it might well be followed by the other states. The South Carolina experiment has been most successful, and, under Dr. Sarah Allan, the unfortunate women in the hospital for the insane at Columbia have never had better and more satisfactory treatment.—Charleston News and Courier.

She Makes It Pay.
Mrs. Frances Fisher Wood has taken up an entirely unique study and is making profit therefrom. She has always been interested in oriental matters, and has now so far advanced in the Japanese language as to be an authority on poetry and all sorts of art treasures.

She is the one woman in this city who can read the mystic symbols, and is known and recognized by every dealer in Japanese curios. Furthermore, Mrs. Wood is often in demand at the custom house when an expert opinion is needed, and she has built up a most lucrative business. Her own collection is valued at $40,000, but serves its best use as a model for less knowing buyers.—New York Journal.

The Woman Who Laughs.
The woman who laughs is the latest craze of the vaudeville world. Miss Alice Atherton has won fame in London through the music and infectious quality of her "hal ha!" In spite of the time honored theory that one should never laugh at his own jokes, this young woman's success seems due to her ability to start the audience into the wildest fits of merriment. She tells funny stories in a funny way, but it is her own laugh, heard at the close of each, that has made her fame.—Exchange.

Annette Vedee.
Froken Annette Vedee, who is a daughter of the chief of the foreign department in Copenhagen, has now relinquished her post as amanuensis to two of the professors at the Stockholm university, which she has filled for three terms, and has gone back to Copenhagen, where she will complete an important mathematical work upon which she has been engaged for some time.

Wants Her to Preach.
Mrs. Lydia Tichenor Bailey, a Congregational preacher, recently held meetings at Snohomish, Wash., in which all the churches united. They have since decided to hold regular union services and have invited Mrs. Bailey to preach for them.

The girls of the Lawrence university in Wisconsin have adopted a costume for school wear modeled somewhat after the military outfit of the boys of a cadet school. It includes a blue blouse laced up in front with black, and a skirt of blue trimmed with black.

Some of the new poke bonnets have already been in evidence on several heads among the New York smart set. It is significant that only the prettiest of pretty women have had the courage to appear in them.

Old fashioned mahogany chairs, with very high backs, are being much sought after. The quaint maiden never looks more charming than when seated in one of these high backed chairs.

Mrs. Irma T. Jones has been re-elected trustee of Plymouth Congregational church, Lansing. She is also superintendent of its Sunday school.

Miss Francis Baker of Morenci, Mich., has written a history of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST.

The publishing of the delinquent tax list of Sonoma county this year will cost the tax-payers less than $175 as against $1120 two years ago, which sum was paid to the Santa Rosa Republic in 1894, when there was no competition for the work. On Saturday last the Board of Supervisors awarded the contract to A. B. Lemmon of the Republic at 18 cents per square. The other bids were as follows: H. H. Granice, Sonoma Index-Tribune, 25 cents per square; R. A. Thompson, Santa Rosa Democrat, 19 1/2 cents; D. W. Ravenscroft, Petaluma Courier, 50 cents. The work ought to be worth about $900 as against $150 to $175 this year and $1120 two years ago. It is surmised that the same cut-throat competition will be in order among the newspapers of the county when it comes to printing the Great Register, which cost the county over $2,000 in 1894. This year, owing to the printing being let to the lowest bidder, the work will probably be done for a great deal less than it ought to be.

Last Monday a storm of incredible severity, combining cyclone, hurricane, rain, hail and flood, swept over Kansas, Iowa and Illinois, destroying more human lives than it is possible at present to ascertain and completely wiping out towns, villages, farms and railroads in its path. On Wednesday a cyclone struck St. Louis and killed and wounded over 800 people and destroyed property valued at fifty millions of dollars. After all California is a mighty good place to live in.

GLEN ELLEN ITEMS.

The thermometer has registered from 95 to 100 degrees in the shade the past few days.

A bouncing baby girl brightened the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ferguson last Saturday. Mother and child are doing nicely and Ed. is able to be about.

Dr. G. C. O'Donnell is completing the blacksmith shop and residence begun by Geo. Towle.

The Tourists picnic last Sunday numbered about 900. Six or eight scraps enlivened the occasion.

L. Breitenbach of Sonoma passed through town last Monday on legal business.

Considerable interest is being taken in the coming Bear Flag celebration to be held at Sonoma June 13th.

Mrs. C. C. O'Donnell is renovating and greatly improving the Guerne house and intends leasing it during the summer months.

Summer boarders and campers are beginning to arrive. The hotels and some of the farms have quite a number of guests.

The many friends of Lewis Adler at this place were greatly pained to hear of his death at Sonoma last week.

The down train on the Southern Pacific last Monday afternoon ran over and broke the leg of a horse, the property of a Mr. Sullivan.

A forest fire near the farm of I. Wright last Tuesday burned over a large area of land but did not do much damage.

A boxing bout for points between two local celebrities, Joe W. an English heavy weight, and Henry M., was held at the Mervyn Hotel last Tuesday evening. A number of sports were in attendance and the contest was awarded to the blooming Britisher in the fourth round. Both men were in fine trim and will undoubtedly be heard from in the pugilistic arena in the near future.

The Biggest Fool at Large

Is the individual who persistently neglects his health, and the means of preserving and restoring it. Many persons who are not constitutional idiots do this. They are genuine objects of compassion as well as censure. A failure of appetite, loss of sleep and flesh, impaired digestion, an uncertain state of the bowels and symptoms of biliousness are so many warnings of the approach of disease. To disregard them is as foolish as to neglect a fire when it is about to break out. It is not fatal. That genial and thoroughly reliable preventive of bodily mischief in the shape of chronic disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will, if resorted to in time, avert those disorders, to the removal of which it is also fully adequate. Among these are chronic indigestion, liver complaint, constipation, kidney troubles, nervousness, rheumatism and malaria.

Notice for Publication.

LAND OFFICE AT SAN FRANCISCO. Cal., May 1, 1896. Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before the County Clerk of Sonoma county at his office in Santa Rosa, Calif., on Monday, June 22, 1896, viz: Sarah E. Read, widow of Edward S. Read, deceased, H. E. No. 424, for the lots 4, 5, 6, 7, 14, 15 and 16, Sec. 26, T. 6, N. R. 6 W. M. D. M. She names the following witnesses to prove her continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: B. L. Cook and C. L. Cook of Sonoma, Calif.; T. B. Beale and C. Beale of Santa Rosa, Calif. Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the Interior Department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

Summons.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF SONOMA TOWNSHIP, County of Sonoma, State of California.

T. S. Dickens, Plaintiff, vs. J. P. Chinn, Defendant. C. C. P., Sec. 844.

The People of the State of California send greeting to J. P. Chinn, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the Justice's Court of Sonoma Township, County of Sonoma, State of California, and to answer before the Justice, at his office in the said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this Summons; if served within the Township, in which this action is brought; or, if served elsewhere, within ten days; or within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover the sum of Two Hundred and Ninety-nine ($299.00) Dollars due and payable by the said defendant unto J. M. Knight for caring, pasturing and feeding certain horses unto said defendant belonging to the special instance and request of said defendant, which said indebtedness of Two Hundred and Ninety-nine ($299.00) Dollars was subsequently sold, assigned and conveyed to this plaintiff by the said J. M. Knight, as more fully appears by the complaint on file herein, to which you are referred.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $299.00 together with interest and costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof. Given under my hand this 12th day of May, 1896.

J. M. CHENEY, Justice of the Peace of said Township.

GASTON STRAUSS, 320 California St., San Francisco, Attorney for Plaintiff.

OVERCOAT LOST.

Summons.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF SONOMA, State of California. F. B. Wetherbee, Plaintiff, vs. Nannie Wetherbee, Defendant.

Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Sonoma, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk said Superior Court.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Nannie Wetherbee, Defendant.

You are hereby notified to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the said County of Sonoma, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons; if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

The said action is brought to obtain a judgment and decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony contracted between the plaintiff and the defendant upon the grounds of adultery, all of which will more fully appear hereinafter, and which you are hereby referred to and further particulars.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Sonoma, State of California, this 13th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING.

Terrific Atmospheric Discharges Frighten Nervous People.

Yesterday morning between two and three o'clock the people in this valley were awakened by loud and prolonged peals of thunder and vivid flashes of sheet and zig-zag lightning that at times illuminated the heavens and struck terror into the hearts of many who had read of the death-dealing cyclone which swooped down on St. Louis last Wednesday for fear a similar fate awaited them. The atmospheric disturbance continued about an hour and then harmlessly subsided. Neither wind nor rain accompanied the heavenly discharges which at times were terrific.

BRUNDAGE THE BURGLAR.

Sentenced to Three Years in the Reform School at Ione.

Chas. Brundage, who robbed the El Verano express office of between $60 and $70 several weeks ago pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in the Superior Court of this county, on Tuesday last, and was sentenced by Judge Dougherty to serve three years at the Preston Reform School at Ione, Amador county. The degradation of young Brundage ought to prove a warning to a number of youngsters in this town who are inclined to be "fly."

Came Near Choking to Death.

Hon. Robt. Howe had a narrow escape from choking to death on Saturday evening last. While eating supper a piece of meat lodged in his throat and for several minutes resisted all efforts to dislodge it. Mr. Howe became black in the face and Dr. Walliser, the family physician, was sent for. Just before the arrival of the doctor, however, Mr. Howe fortunately succeeded in swallowing the troublesome morsel and none too soon either, as it is doubtful if he could have lived until the physician arrived. The most singular thing about the case is that the piece of meat was of ordinary size and why it lodged in his throat is a mystery. Bob, better eat hash and wind pudding hereafter.

Charged with Assault.

Martin Peter, the well-known winemaker of Glen Ellen, was arrested last Monday by Deputy Marshal Breitenbach, on complaint of his nephew Adolph Brucker, who charged Peter with assaulting him with a knife. The defendant was taken before Judge Cheney, who released him on $500 bail pending his preliminary examination. His bondsmen were Messrs. Geo. H. H. Cornelius and L. Litzius. The defense will be represented by Attorneys Burnett and Leppo. The alleged assault, in which nobody was hurt, was the outcome of a family row. The examination will take place before Judge Cheney next Tuesday.

Paulist Mission at St. Francis' Church.

The exercises of the Paulist Mission will conclude on Sunday the 31st inst. at 10:30 a. m., when an appropriate sermon will be preached. The Papal Benediction will also be given and a musical programme, special to the occasion, will be rendered. This Mission, the first held in Sonoma for many years, has been the means of bringing out large numbers of people who are entertained and instructed by the reverend gentlemen, who no doubt did a vast deal of good during their short stay among us.

Flagrant Violation of the Game Law.

For the past week or so parties in this valley have been engaged in the unlawful practice of shooting dove and quail out of season. The matter having been brought to the attention of those whose duty it is to see that the game laws are enforced in this State a watch has been put upon the culprits and a number of arrests may follow. The INDEX-TRIBUNE ought not to give this away, but a hint to the wise is sufficient.

Improper and deficient care of the scalp will cause grayness of the hair and baldness. Escape both by the use of that reliable specific, Hall's Hair Renewer.

RAISING THE BEAR FLAG.

NATIVE SONS, PIONEERS AND MEXICAN WAR VETERANS

To Participate—Beeves for the Barbecue and Money to Pay Expenses Being Liberally Donated.

Interest in the Bear Flag celebration, which is to take place in this city on Saturday, June 13th, is being manifested all over the State. The various committees having charge of the affair are actively at work to make the celebration an event long to be remembered by Californians.

Reports from San Francisco say that all the Parlor of Native Sons in that city are discussing the proposition of attending in a body. Santa Rosa will be represented by over 1,000 people to say nothing about the other towns in the county. It is estimated that there will be between 4,000 and 5,000 people in Sonoma to do honor to the brave and hardy pioneers who fifty years ago hoisted the Bear Flag on our Plaza and undoubtedly saved California to the Union.

NOTES.

Wm. Hamilton of the Senator Jones ranch will contribute a large steer and two if necessary for the barbecue.

The Supervisors of this county, who were visited upon by Messrs. Fred. T. Duhning and Geo. O. Campbell last Saturday and asked to appropriate $500 toward the Bear Flag celebration, on the advice of District Attorney Seawell declined to make the appropriation on the grounds that it would be illegal.

The Native Sons of San Francisco, representing all the Parlor in that city, have appointed a committee to make arrangements to take in the celebration on June 13th. The committee will make its report next Saturday.

The Mexican War Veterans of Santa Rosa have decided to attend the celebration in a body.

Augustine Jaurez of Napa, the prince of barbecuers, has been engaged to take charge of the barbecue.

The Grand Parlor of Native Daughters, which will be in session in Napa on June 12th, on which day they will complete their labors, are expected to attend the celebration in a body.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary.

The Congregational Church of this place celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its organization on Thursday afternoon last by a reunion of the members, former pastors and friends. Among those present were Rev. H. H. Wyckoff and Rev. Mr. Perkins, both of whom have actively occupied the pulpit of the church in the past. Mrs. Jonathan Hoag and Mrs. Collins, formerly of this place but now of Alameda county, were also present. At half-past twelve a fine dinner was served in the library rooms, after which exercises were held in the church. There was an address of welcome by Rev. C. E. Chase, roll call by the Secretary, Mrs. O. B. Shaw, followed by the reading of letters from absent members. Rev. H. H. Wyckoff then delivered an able address, after which an adjournment was taken until 8 o'clock. The evening session was enlivened with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Perkins and an address by Miss Theodora Crosby on her missionary work on the Micronesian Islands. There was also singing by a choir composed of Misses Clair Hope, Bertha Campbell, Grace Carmer, Bessie Carpenter, Clara Cheney, Mrs. Davis and Messrs. Claude Johnson and Clark Gaines. Miss Clair Hope also sang a solo entitled "The Holy City." The reunion was largely attended and the church handsomely decorated.

Sonoma High School.

All of the subjects taught in the High School have been accredited by the University Examiners, Professors Lange, Merrill, Plehm and Edwards. The work has been complimented by these gentlemen. The graduating exercises of the High School will take place Friday, June 5th.

THE DEMOCRATS.

MEETING OF THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Healdsburg and Sebastopol Secure the Conventions.

The Democratic County Committee met in Santa Rosa last Saturday to make arrangements for holding primaries for choosing delegates to the State and County Conventions.

Committeeman Warren having moved from the county, W. F. Barnes of Fulton was elected to fill Mr. Warren's place in the Santa Rosa township representation.

The Secretary read the report of the Chairman and Secretary in regard to the receipts and disbursements of the last campaign and showed that several small bills had not been paid, owing to the assessment levied on the candidates not being fully paid up.

W. H. Barnes and W. S. Dudley of Healdsburg tendered their resignation as members of the committee. The same were accepted and the chairman empowered to appoint two to fill the vacancies. J. J. Livernash and St. Hilgerlot were appointed.

J. S. Saunders spoke eloquently, and extended the invitation of the people of Sebastopol to hold the convention for choosing delegates to the State convention at that place.

It was ordered that two primaries and two conventions be held—one for the election of delegates to the State convention and the other for nominating county officers.

It was ordered that the primaries for the first convention be held on June 2nd, and the convention on June 6th.

The time set for holding primaries was fixed at from 2 to 5 p. m., except in Redwood township, where the time was fixed at from 2 p. m. to sunset.

It was ordered that the first convention be held at Sebastopol on June 6th, 1896, at 10:30 a. m.

It was ordered that the number of delegates to the convention be apportioned on the Cleveland vote of 1894—one delegate to each thirty votes cast and one for each fraction of fifteen and over.

The several committeemen of each township were authorized to make arrangements for holding the primaries, appointing judges, etc.

A committee on transportation was ordered appointed to secure rates for the delegates to the convention, and J. S. Saunders was appointed.

J. J. Livernash spoke in behalf of holding the second convention at Healdsburg.

The time for holding the primaries for said convention and the convention itself was left to the chair to fix hereafter.

It was ordered that for the Healdsburg convention the number of delegates be based on the Cleveland vote of '94 (one delegate to each thirty votes and one to each fraction of fifteen and over), and that an additional delegate be allowed each precinct in the county.

The Cleveland test of the last primaries was adopted as the test of the coming primaries.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the chair.

Weather and Crops.

The weather the past week has been very warm and in consequence both orchard and vineyard have been greatly benefited. Grape vines which were badly damaged by the frosts of April have put on new shoots and many vineyards that were thought to be entirely wiped out will produce a half crop while others will average a two-thirds crop. A number of vineyards entirely escaped, among others being that of J. Chauvet which will produce an exceptionally heavy yield of wine grapes. Taking it all in all, both orchard and vineyard will turn out much better crops than was anticipated a month ago. Robt. Hall reports that he is busily engaged in shipping cherries this week and that he has a fair crop. Hay and grain in Sonoma Valley never looked better and there will be a heavy crop of both. Harvesting commenced this week and will continue from now on.

opposite, was a great chequered moonlight—nothing more, nothing those blue squares in the darkness. Suddenly the cabman ducked his head, for he saw that a man had got into the room. He carried a candle above his head, and his great pale was bloated and loose as a curd.

The cabman crouched low. A gust wind set the fir trees whispering, a shutter slammed far away in the distance. "Guess I'll get out of this," he muttered, rising. But he did not go, for figure that stood in the candlelight turned its back to the window and

AMONG THE SHEAVES.

O Lord, the fields are ripe with corn;
The laborer goeth singing:
The joyful heart is heavenward borne
On music's plian winging.
The sky is fair, with here and there
A snowy cloudlet sweeping;
And in this time of happy cheer
What do I with my weeping?
Oh, shame, among the golden sheaves
To stain the day with mourning!
Oh, shame on him who idly grieves,
God's harvest blessing scorn!
The heavens above look down in love:
The earth's smile back victorious;
By hill and vale where'er you rove
The harvest fields shine glorious.
But on my soul a sadness lies,
Made deeper by the story
Of a patient's second swoon
Thus perfected to glory.
Each faithful heart hath borne its part,
The autumn treasure sharing;
But I, I only know the smart
Of failure and despairing.
O Lord, had all these weary days,
These wasted weeks of grieving,
Been spent in showing forth thy praise,
I had had corn for sheaving.
Not empty hand and empty land
Had been my harvest's glory;
Nor sad and stricken should I stand,
A mark for thy displeasure.
Lo! yet there comes a thought to me;
I see the poor and lowly
With bowed head and aching knee
Go gleaming, gleaming slowly.
They did not sow, they did not mow;
Dropt ears is all they have to show;
Wouldst take such labor even now?
My gleanings, O my Father?
—E. E. KILTON in Good Words.

THE BREAD OF THE WORLD.

What This Important Food Is Made of In Different Countries.
In England and America wheat bread is within the reach of all, and scarcely is a thought given to the fact that only a small portion of the earth's inhabitants enjoy it. It is only during the last century that wheat bread has come into common use. A hundred years ago wealthy families in England used only a loaf of wheat a year and that at Christmas, eating out cakes during the remainder of the time.
The German "pumpernickel" is a rye bread with a curious, sour taste, but after eating it awhile one acquires quite a taste for it. It is less nutritious than that of wheat. In the poorer parts of Sweden the people bake their rye bread only twice a year and store it away, so that eventually it is as hard as bricks.
Further north still barley and oats become the chief bread crop. But in the distant north is where man is put to thought to provide himself with bread. In Lapland if a man trusted to grain he would starve, so the people eat out their scanty store of oats with the inner bark of the pine, and after grinding this mixture it is made into large flat cakes, which, after all, are not half bad.
In dreary Kamchatka the pine or birch bark by itself, well ground, pounded and baked, constitutes the whole of the native bread food. Bread and butter is represented by a dough of pine bark spread with seal fat. In certain parts of Siberia the people not only grind the pine bark, but cut off the tender shoots, which procedure must give the bread an unpleasantly resinous flavor.
In Iceland the lichen is scraped off the rock, made into bread puddings and put into soup. In Russia and China buckwheat is pressed into service. It makes a palatable bread, though of a dark violet tinge.
In Italy and Spain chestnuts are cooked, ground into meal and used for bread and soup thickening. Millet furnishes a white bread in Arabia, Egypt and India. This grain is credited with being the very first used in breadmaking.
Rice bread is still the staple food of the Chinese, Japanese and Indians.
In the Indian archipelago the starchy pith of the sago palm is made into bread, and in parts of Africa the natives use a certain root for the same purpose.

Save by a Shot.

Sir George Yule of the Indian civil service was a mild, sweet natured man, but a "mighty hunter," who had killed hundreds of bears and shot tigers on foot and from horse and elephant. Sir Edward Braddon, in his "Thirty Years of Shikar," tells of Sir George's narrow escape from death in an encounter with a tiger.

He was standing outside of a jungle from which a tiger was being driven by hunters. The tiger came from the jungle within a few feet of the spot where Yule stood and rushed at him. He had only time to bring his rifle up to his hip and fire as the beast sprang upon him, knocking him to the ground, smashing in his sun helmet and tearing his shoulder and chest.

The tiger was dead when it reached the ground, killed by the chance shot so poorly fired.

The Compliments of the Street.

In a little crush of trucks and wagons at Broadway and Bleecker street the other day one driver said to another, of a third who had just driven by rather clumsily, "He's a farmer and a clam digger, and the next time he comes down this way I'm going to punch his head." But ferocious as these words were they were not spoken ferociously, and they were smilingly received, and one did not understand them necessarily to mean an inordinate amount of bloodshed, nor to contain any reflection upon the occupations of farming and clam digging, but simply to express resentment at the appearance in the crowded streets as a truck driver of one skilled in those occupations only.—New York Sun.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Dr. H. Pitcher is on every wrapper.

Staple, Barnstable.

In Anglo-Saxon the word "staple," or "staple" denoted a post or pillar of wood or stone. In local names it has various significations. Such posts or pillars were often erected to mark places where markets were held, or where merchandise could be exposed for sale. Such pillars were Dunstable, in Bedfordshire, a market on the chalk downs, and Barnstable, in Devon. Sometimes the staple was a post marking the place of the hundred moots.

We have hundreds called Barnstable and Thurstable in Essex, and one called Staple in Sussex. There are seven places called Staple, but as none of them is a market town they were probably merely farmsteads marked by a post, one of them, called Staple in Domesday, being a hill with a post. So of the nine Staples none is a market town, and they were probably forest markers or protected by piles or posts. Staplebridge, Dorset, called Staplebridge in Domesday, was probably a trestle bridge. Whistable in Kent must have taken its name from a white pillar, erected either for a market or as a guide to ships entering the harbor, or to which boats could be moored. Staplehurst must have been a wood marked by a post, or, like Stockwith, a wood where stumps or posts were left standing.—Notes and Queries.

She Was Too Sharp For Them.

One day last winter a stylishly dressed woman stepped from a coach in front of a big dry goods store in New York and proceeded to the fur department selected a seal wrap worth $800. In payment she tendered a check for $1,000, which the saleswoman took to the office. A messenger was dispatched to the bank, and he was told that the check was good. Meantime the woman pretended to be indignant, demanded a return of the check, would accept no apologies and drove away. Presently she returned and said she had allowed her temper to overcome her and ordered the check wrapped up. She was given $700 in change and disappeared. A second visit to the bank disclosed the fact that the woman had withdrawn the $1,000 she had on deposit there and that the check was worthless.

Mr. Gratebar's Advice to Philip.

"It isn't new, the idea of living with one's income," said Mr. Gratebar, "but I am trying to impress on Philip the importance of beginning in his youth, and I do want him to save something every year, without interruption, and to begin when he is young. Begun early and kept up continuously, it is almost wonderful how even small savings accumulate. There is scarcely a man who cannot provide himself with a moderate fortune from his savings alone by beginning early and keeping at it."

"Old?" Of course it's old; old as the hills, but how many of us have profited by it? And I want Philip to begin now."—New York Sun.

A Possible Explanation.

Why was St. Andrew selected to be the patron saint of Scotland? This question has exercised clerical and lay curiosity, but has not been satisfactorily answered unless the explanation offered by the archdeacon of Calcutta at a dinner which he attended at St. Andrew's day be confirmed as final. "Gentlemen," he said, "I have given this difficult subject my thoughtful consideration, and I have come to the conclusion that St. Andrew was chosen to be the patron saint of Scotland because he discovered the lad who had the leaves and fishes!"—London Telegraph.
